

You don't have to go this alone:

We can't take away your illness, but we can ease the impact this medical crisis is having on you and your family.

Identify and secure all financial, healthcare and disability benefits. Caryn has a proven track record of first-round approvals.

Manage the details of a complicated illness/injury – making phone calls, scheduling appointments, organizing your medical records.

Supportive counseling and referrals to emotional and spiritual resources.

Coordinate between all the medical providers – making sure appropriate tests, referrals, and communication occur on a timely basis.

Your pathfinder when facing the tsunami of decisions and details that you never anticipated and don't understand.

Advocate with your providers and insurance company for the best-possible care.

Negotiate your medical bills to ensure you're being billed appropriately and fairly.

Caryn Cochran, LCSW is a medical social worker and champion of patients and their families as they navigate the complicated maze of the healthcare while coping with their illnesses and injuries.
